

Everybody Eats Lunch

Get your miniature pampered chef on the right track with Everybody Eats Lunch (Glitterati Inc., May 2008) by best-selling author Cricket Azima. One part cookbook, one part toy, and one part global adventure, the lunchbox-shaped cookbook explores both culture and ethnic lunch foods as it takes children on a lunchtime journey through five countries. Perfect for ages 4 to 11, each page is devoted to a different country and features colorful removable images of the food to examine and explore, and underneath each food image is the recipe for that international dish. In this book they will have fun visiting Brazil, Jamaica, Japan, Mexico and South Africa. V

Available where books are sold or visit thecreativekitchen.com.

